Lesson 1

PREVIEW COPY

Lessons begin with six letter strokes and basics of handwriting.

Line-spacing is a slight bit wider than wide-ruled notebook paper. A broken mid-line supports the formation of lower case letters.

Pencil shape points to starting point.

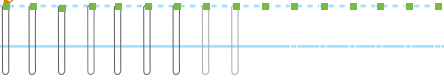

Track lines provide starting point with green dot and an outline to guide formation. The track fades and then the dot disappears, supporting guided practice with gradual release.

Clock face in margin supports formation of curved lines and directionality.

Lesson 3

PREVIEW COPY

Single letter phonograms are introduced using multi-sensory activities including catchy tunes with attention to letter formation and sounds.

Track letters provide guided practice for letter formation and spacing. Fading of lines and elimination of green points supports gradual release.

Pencil shapes remind student of starting points. clock face in margin supports directionality and formation of curved lines in a letter.

The font used in the notebook was created by Alice Nine to guide correct letter formation.

Lesson 4

PREVIEW COPY

Each lesson begins with retrieval practice activities, reading flashcards, writing from dictation, and self-checking with explicit guidance from teacher.

Space is designated for Phonogram Dictation and guided self-checking part of retrieval practice. The plus focuses on the number a student wrote successfully without help.

Lesson 5

PREVIEW COPY

Phonogram Dictation is designed with "hidden words" -- Word Find.

Students enjoy this game-like activity as they learn that phonograms work together in linear patterns to form words.
